

UNIVERSITY of NEBRASKA FOUNDATION

FY22 FOUNDATION ENDOWMENT REPORT

AS OF JUNE 30, 2022

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF INVESTMENT OFFICER

Brian Neale

The objective for the University of Nebraska Foundation’s endowment is to balance the need for sustained growth for future generations against the need for sufficient liquidity for the needs of the University of Nebraska today. It is a permanent endowment, established in 1936, with an investment horizon of “forever.” Given this long-term horizon, we primarily measure performance not on one or three year results, but on five year intervals. Our five-year return for the year ending June 30, 2022, was 6.0%. This was below our benchmark of 6.6%, mainly due to underperformance in international equities and emerging markets due to strife in Eastern Europe and unanticipated price spikes in commodities. These latter two factors affected many investors last year, and university endowments were no exception. Looking at longer term intervals, the 10-year return of our endowment as of June 30, 2022, was 6.8% and the since-inception return was 8.3%. While we measure ourselves primarily on the 5-year return, our one-year return for the fiscal year was -9.3%.

We continue to evolve our investment strategy to capitalize on changing market dynamics. This includes a recent reduction in our exposure to core bonds, an increase in floating rate credit exposure and implementing an overweight position in our Real Assets portfolio. Additionally, while we are still building out our private equity program, we have seen excellent results and remain confident that this strategy will continue to provide strong contributions to our investment returns. While markets are likely to remain challenging in the foreseeable future, the foundation continues to maintain a patient and disciplined approach to managing investments.
